Relax

Sometimes we forget that taking time to relax isn't just nice; it's required. Amidst the appointments, meetings, and never ending tasks, you need time for yourself. You need time to recharge your battery and refresh your soul. You need time to find inner balance and harmony even when your world feels like it is spinning in chaos... Beautiful friend, rest. Make time to consume nothing except for a couple pages in your favorite book or a few of your favorite songs. Make time to tune out the outside world to focus on you for a little bit- everything out there will still be there waiting when you come back. Make time for you, you're worth it.
